

Lexington track, and Trainer Bob Tucker will rest all of the stable and have a few horses which will be taken by William Porter to New Orleans for the winter. Aggie, the 2-year-old, which did so well the last of the Morris Park and the first few days of the Aqueduct meeting, will be the main hope of the stable in the 2-year-old division next year.

The big son of Sir Dixon has many engagements already and more will be made for him. Broomstick will, of course, be his main reliance in the big handicaps, and because of his exploits this season, Captain Brown and Trainer Tucker think that the handicapper will take pretty good care of the colt. Unless he grows a lot, the son of Ben Brush will have a hard time in handling such weight against the better handicap performers.

Of the horses raced at the recent Delmar meeting and now racing at Latonia, Jake Greenburg, has turned out to be best. Jake is running in the handicaps at the Cincinnati track, and the handicapper has given to him top weight in every one so far, and he has made a good showing in winning the share of the money.

Frank O'Neill and Willie Davis, the two local lads who have been riding in the East for the last season, arrived in town Wednesday. O'Neill will remain here all winter with his parents, who live in North St. Louis.

Davis, who lives with his parents on Belmont avenue, will take the winter to the winter to ride for Walter Jennings, who campaigns one of the biggest sires in the country. Davis has had a good season extra well in the East last season and will, in all probability, return there next season.

Richard J. Collins will, as usual, spend the winter in New Orleans. Collins was a candidate for the Senate on the Democratic ticket, but went down to defeat with the rest of the city ticket.

YALE FAVORITE OVER PRINCETON

Eli and the Tigers Meet To-Day on the New Jersey College's Campus.

NEW HAVEN TEAM HEAVIER.

Stanard, a St. Louis Boy, Is Expected to Be a Tower of Strength in the Presbyterians' Team.

While the student betting was not heavy to-day, more than $4000 was wagered on Wall street on the results of the Yale-Princeton and other games. The contest between Yale and Princeton attracted the greatest amount of interest and the betting was lively and aggressive. The odds opened at 10 to 8 favoring Yale. At these prices Princeton's last year's victory over Yale, which was a very large amount, Curb brokers who have handled football wagers in the past stated to-day that never had they seen such aggressive betting between the old rivals.

The Yale team is heavier, older and more experienced than the Princeton team. In addition to these advantages, the added experience of several years of playing on the side of the Yale team, Hogan, Sheelin, Kinney, Rockwell, Tripp, Hobarack and Ousley are all the players who have faced big college eleven in other seasons.

For the Tigers, Captain Foulke, Cooney, Short, Burke and Ritter are the more experienced, although Foulke, Miller and Ritter are not without the necessary qualifications that come from taking part in the final games of the football season. The Tigers indulged in no regular work to-day beyond light signal practice to keep their hands in. It does not seem probable that Eli to-morrow in the pink of condition. Although Yale has somewhat the advantage in the line, it does not seem probable that it will not serve the Elis to make their chances more even.

Stanard, a St. Louis boy, who started in without experience in football of any sort, much less in the Princeton kind, has caught on to the game. He is expected to be a tower of strength to the Princeton's style of play, perhaps one of the most difficult played on any gridiron. DEMOCRATIC VOTES ELECT REPUBLICAN TO CONGRESS.

Council and House in Oklahoma Are Lost to Democratic Socialist Vote Increases.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Outhrie, Ok., Nov. 11.—The news at Republican headquarters makes the outlook more favorable for the Republican congressional and legislative tickets. Chairman Filson is keeping his estimates of McGuff's majority close to 1300. Unofficial returns from Roger Mills County, regarded as a Mathews stronghold, gave him a majority of only 530, against 588 for Cross two years ago.

This is substantial evidence that the county farmers, who are the backbone of the McGuff vote, are not so solid as they have been. The school land leases seem to have voted fully 75 per cent of their strength for McGuff.

Every county where the lease population is heavy shows abnormal gains. This is most noticeable in Lincoln, where McGuff's vote is down from 100 per cent of the leasees are Democrats or Populists. The loss of the lease vote would have defeated McGuff.

Only a cursory estimate can be made of the Socialist vote, but in towns and precincts where the vote is known, it is apparent that there has been a decided gain over two years ago, and that the Socialists will receive more than 4000 votes.

Both the Council and the lower house may be carried by the McGuff vote. They have a majority of seven in the Council, in lower house the Republicans are counting positively on 15 and possibly 16 Representatives.

BROWNLOW MAY APOLOGIZE FOR HIS HARSH WORDS.

Late Postmaster General Charged Insolence in Reply to Request for Fuller Accounting.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Colonel John B. Brownlow, who has been in charge of the exhibit of the Post-Office Department at the World's Fair, and who holds a clerical position in the office of the Second Assistant Postmaster General, returned to-day from St. Louis under orders to report to the Postmaster General for a conference.

The subject of the conference was the alleged insolence charged against Colonel Brownlow and ordered by the President to be investigated. The charges are that Mr. Brownlow, in replying to the Postmaster General, was insolent and disrespectful in his expense accounts regarding the exhibit at St. Louis and that the Colonel objected to this as a reflection on his integrity.

It was reported here a few days ago that Colonel Brownlow would be dismissed. The understanding to-night is that he will be allowed to apologize for his insolence and then be retained in the service. General when asked for a fuller accounting and not dismissed from the service. It is believed that the President has been for more than twenty years, will doubtless have weight in the final disposition of his case.

Overcome by Gas in Trench.

Neely Van, 40 years old, employed by the East St. Louis Gas Company, narrowly escaped asphyxiation in a trench in front of the Third street entrance to the East St. Louis City Hall yesterday.

He was working on the gas main in order to locate a leak, and is believed to have unconsciously inhaled enough gas to cause unconsciousness. He was found lying in the trench. He received medical attention, after which he was removed to his home at No. 1212 Second street.

BRITISH SOLDIER AT FAIR

John Backhouse of Boer War Concession Shot After a Quarrel.

JEFFERSON GUARD IS HELD.

Ernest Chriss, It Is Said, Interfered and in Struggle Which Followed Briton Was Shot—Operation Unsuccessful.

As the climax to a quarrel between a Boer and a Briton at the South African Boer War concession at the World's Fair yesterday afternoon, John Backhouse, one of the British soldiers employed in the mimic struggle, was shot through the groin and died a few hours afterwards.

Ernest Chriss, a Jefferson Guard, and himself a former soldier in the Boer War, and previous to that a member of Funston's famous regiment, the Twentieth Kansas Infantry, who interfered, is being held to await the action of the Coroner.

The shooting occurred at 4:30 o'clock, just after the close of the performance. Backhouse died in the Emergency Hospital at 9:15 o'clock last night as the result of his wound.

From statements after the performance Chriss walked into the arena of the concession and saw George Steadman, a British soldier, and Daniel Devine, engaged on the Boer side in the war, fighting. It is understood that others attempted to take part in the fight, but they were prevented. It is further stated that Chriss, who was off duty at the time, was also present, and said that he "thought the fight had gone far enough."

Several of the British soldiers standing nearby. It is said, resented any attempt at interference by him, and Chriss started to leave. The Jefferson Guard was followed by those who were present at the fight, and he was eventually challenged to an encounter with one of the British soldiers. Chriss, it is said, declined to fight.

Chriss was hit in the face by one of the crowd, and he drew his revolver from his pocket. The crowd then gathered around Chriss.

John Backhouse, who was killed, grabbed Chriss, and it is said, attempted to take the revolver away from him. Backhouse was behind him, and it is stated that Chriss reached around and pulled the trigger. The bullet took effect in the groin of Backhouse.

Chriss was a general encounter, in which Chriss was badly beaten up about the head and shoulders. The men were incensed at the wounding of their comrade, but were prevented from maltreating the Jefferson Guard by policemen. In the struggle two more shots were fired, but they were wild.

In the meantime, word was sent to the World's Fair Police Station that a riot was pending at the Boer War concession, and a patrol wagon filled with policemen was sent. The arrest of Chriss was made by Detectives Stoop and Moore.

Backhouse was taken to the Emergency Hospital. An operation was performed and the bullet was extracted, but he died a few minutes afterwards.

ASSAULT TO KILL CHARGED.

Chriss was taken to the World's Fair Police Station in the patrol wagon, and first held on the charge of assault with intent to kill, and then, after the death of Backhouse, he was held to await the action of the Coroner.

Backhouse was 35 years old and lived in Leeds, England. He served with credit. It is said, in the army of England in the Boer War, and later was one of the guards of Boer prisoners. He was of splendid physique.

Backhouse was married to Miss Katherine Papech of California, August 2, the ceremony being performed in the Boer War concession. There was a pretty romance connected with the marriage. Mrs. Backhouse was employed at the Fair, and their acquaintance dated from the opening of the Exposition.

Chriss was 24 years old. He is a member of Company A of the Jefferson Guard, and entered the service May 2. He is a veteran of the Spanish-American War, having been an enlisted man in the Twentieth Kansas Infantry, which was sent to Cuba in the summer of 1898.

WILL MARRY IN SPITE OF BREACH-OF-PROMISE SUIT.

Former Fiancee Alleges That Young Real Estate Man Broke Engagement, and She Seeks $10,000 Damages as Bail.

With a breach-of-promise suit pending in the courts of East St. Louis, C. A. Pfeiffer, a young business man of that city, has secured a marriage license to Miss Lula Sattig of Belleville next Wednesday.

Miss Lula Sattig is the plaintiff in the breach-of-promise suit, which will be called for trial in East St. Louis some time in December. About a year ago Miss Woods instituted proceedings against Mr. Pfeiffer for $10,000 damages, stating that the defendant had broken his promise to marry her, and she claims to have letters to that effect, which will be used as evidence in the case.

Miss Woods lives in Millstadt, Ill., and when she entered suit alleged that Mr. Pfeiffer was a wealthy citizen of St. Louis. She alleged that he had broken his promise to marry her, and she claims to have letters to that effect, which will be used as evidence in the case.

The marriage ceremony will be performed at St. Luke's Church, Belleville, on Wednesday, the Reverend Father Gough officiating.

RAIN DELAYED WEDDING CEREMONY.

Spilled Plans of Couple Who Went to Waterloo to Surprise Their Friends.

Doctor J. H. Maxwell of St. Louis and Miss Lydia Borgess of East St. Louis surprised their friends yesterday when they went to Waterloo, Ind., to be married by the Reverend D. W. Wright.

They expected to be married and return to St. Louis without their friends learning of it, but owing to a heavy rain the train arrived there the ceremony was delayed. They waited at the station some time for the rain to cease. The bridegroom-to-be finally purchased an umbrella.

The couple then went to the Courthouse, where the license was secured, when another delay was experienced in the search for a Justice of the Peace. Doctor J. H. Maxwell, who was the best man, was called to the hospital.
